

HISTORY/RECORDS

INTEGRITY

Early Army lacrosse action from 1939.

One of the most storied institutions in the nation, West Point is also home to one of the oldest and most successful college lacrosse programs in the country.

The Black Knights embark on their 92nd season of intercollegiate lacrosse Feb. 14 (the earliest season opener in Academy history) when they welcome VMI to Michie Stadium to tip off the 2009 campaign.

Joe Alberici enters his fourth season patrolling the sidelines and hopes to lead the program back to the NCAA tournament after three-straight appearances from 2003-2005.

With 699 victories under its belt, Army's lacrosse program ranks fifth in all-time wins, behind only Johns Hopkins, Syracuse, Navy and Hobart.

Army lacrosse has earned eight national championships before the NCAA sanctioned a postseason tournament in 1971, while 12 men (eight players and four coaches) associated with the program's history have been welcomed into the National Lacrosse Foundation Hall of Fame.

Additionally, former legendary head coach F. Morris Touchstone was part of the inaugural class to be enshrined in the Hall of Army Sports Hall of Fame in 2004. Touchstone, who retired in 1957, is still the Academy's all-time winningest lacrosse coach.

Further testimony to Army's prominent place on the landscape of collegiate lacrosse is evident in the postseason awards. Two of the five existing national lacrosse awards bear the name of a former member of the Army lacrosse "family." The national "Coach of the Year" award is named in honor of Touchstone, while the national "Player of the Year" award is recognized as the Lt. Raymond J. Enners Award – a 1967 Academy graduate.

Two former Black Knights (Pete Cramblet in 1970 and Tom Cafaro in 1971) have won the Enners Award, while James "Ace" Adams (1961) and Dick Edell (1978) were presented with the Touchstone "Coach of the Year" honor.

Three Black Knights have been named the nation's top attackman while two have earned outstanding goalie plaudits (including A. Norman Webb, who earned that distinction in 1963 and 1964). Eight Army players have captured the nod as the top defenseman in the country.

Tracing Lacrosse's Roots

Lacrosse had a sparse beginning at West Point as an Academy-sponsored sport. The U.S. Military Academy supported an intercollegiate squad in 1907, 1909 and 1910 before the sport really took off for good in 1921. Despite its shaky start off the field, the program enjoyed immediate on-field success, foreshadowing a long, rich history as one of the nation's elite teams. Those squads of 1907, 1909 and 1910 combined to win all 10 of their games.

By 1923, in only the program's sixth year, head coach Talbot Hunter brought home the Academy's first national championship when his Black Knights concluded the season with an 8-1-1 mark. In Hunter's first campaign along the Hudson, Army was 2-3. However, the Black Knights rebounded with a 6-1 showing in 1922, beginning a stretch of 33 consecutive seasons in which Army posted a winning record.

West Point's lacrosse fortunes reached its all-time high under direction of the legendary Touchstone, who guided his charges to 214 wins, against just 73 losses and four ties, during a 29-year career as Army mentor.

He roamed the Army sidelines from 1929 through 1957. During his tenure, the Black Knights of the Hudson won or shared three national titles, capturing the outright crown in 1944 before sharing it with Navy in 1945 and Princeton in 1951. Forty-two of the 82 first team All-Americans in Army history came while Touchstone was the coach.

His resume, laden with a .743 winning percentage at Army and coupled with a strong four-year stint as head coach at Yale, earned him an induction into the Hall of Fame in 1960, just three years after his retirement. His entry into the Hall paved the way for All-Americans Harry Wilson, Thomas Truxtun and James Hartinger to follow.

Wilson was the first West Point athlete to earn first team All-America accolades in both lacrosse and football in the same year, accomplishing that feat in 1926. Charles Born, a first team grid All-American in 1925 was selected as a first team lacrosse All-American in 1928.

Throughout its early days, the lacrosse program enjoyed a close affiliation with the Army football team as many gridders kept themselves athletically fit by excelling in lacrosse each spring. Among Army's early lacrosse All-Americans were gridders Wilson, Born, Milt Summerfelt, Robert Stillman, Clinton True and Woodrow Wilson. Bill Carpenter would equal that feat prior to his graduation in 1960.

Carpenter achieved national acclaim as the "Lonely End" on Army's football team. Much like Touchstone, who was a lacrosse visionary, the "Lonely End" formation was the brainchild of Hall of Fame football coach Earl "Red" Blaik. So intertwined were the success of the gridders and laxmen that both programs captured national championships in 1944 and 1945.

Dawn of the Modern Era

The one constant throughout all of Army's success was a stingy defense. Don Tillar and Carpenter were named the nation's top defenseman in 1959 and 1960, respectively, headlining a span of 15 years in which six Black Knights were presented with that honor.

The benefactor, as well as a chief contributor, of Army's stellar defense during the mid-1960s was Norman Webb, who became a two-time national "Goalie of the Year" and an All-American.

Adams had the unenviable task of replacing Touchstone in 1958. But "Ace" was equal to the task, forging a 9-0 mark in his first year on the job

Army played its home games on "The Plain," as well as at Daly Field, Clinton Field and Shea Stadium, before moving into Michie Stadium.

Army One Win Shy Of Exclusive Club

Army enters the 2009 season needing one win to become only the fifth lacrosse program in the country to win 700 games. In 91 seasons, the Black Knights are the owners of a 699-322-7 record since defeating Steven's Tech, 3-1, in the program's first outing in 1907. Army is one of only eight teams with more than 650 wins:

Rnk.	School	W-L-T
1.	Johns Hopkins	882-278-15
2.	Syracuse	777-306-15
3.	Navy	728-286-14
4.	Hobart	713-422-20
5.	ARMY	699-322-7
6.	Maryland	693-231-4
7.	Cornell	652-430-27
8.	Yale	651-397

and earning a share of the national title. It was Army's first perfect season since 1910.

In a dozen years at West Point, Adams' teams won .777 percent of its games — including a then Academy-record 10-win performance during his final season in 1969 — and shared the national championship four times, 1958, 1959, 1961 and 1969. In 1961, after a 9-2 campaign, Adams was named national "Coach of the Year."

An All-America midfielder during his college days at Johns Hopkins, Adams joined Touchstone in the Hall of Fame during induction ceremonies in 1975. By that time Robert Miser, Webb and Cramblet had also been enshrined following stellar careers. Last November, Dick Edell increased Army's representation in the Hall of Fame to 11 with his enshrinement. It marked the second consecutive year that the Hall of Fame class included a member of the Army family.

In 2003, another stalwart from the Ace Adams era earned his way into the hallowed hall when Tom Sheckells (USMA '65) was voted in posthumously.

Cramblet and Cafaro, who were the cornerstones of the Army team during the transition from Adams to successor Al Pisano, helped establish the Black Knights as an explosive offensive team. Cramblet would graduate in 1970 as the Academy's all-time leading scorer with 150 points, but Cafaro would shatter that mark one year later following an 85-point senior season that vaulted his career point total to 167.

With Pisano at the helm, the Black Knights played an instrumental role in the emergence of the NCAA Tournament. The NCAA unveiled its eight-team playoff format in 1971 and the Black Knights found themselves in the first lacrosse final four.

Cafaro was the impetus behind that success, scoring 18 points in Army's two contests. The Black Knights defeated Hofstra in the opening round (19-6) but lost to eventual champion Cornell, 17-16, in the semifinals. Both games were held at West Point.

In fact, since the tourney's inception, West Point has been the home to postseason play in seven different years, most recently in 2001 when the first round was held at Michie Stadium.

The Black Knights were members of the first three NCAA tourney fields and have appeared in postseason play 15 times, including the last two campaigns. Army is one of only 11 lacrosse programs that have appeared in at least a dozen postseason tournaments since the event began in 1971.

Dick Edell, who succeeded Pisano and forged a .733 winning percentage in his seven-year stint at the Academy, continued Army's success. He guided the Black Knights to the NCAA Tournament in four of his seven years along the Army sideline. Goalie George Slabowski and attackman Frank Giordano were the featured stars of Edell's era. Both earned first team All-America accolades in 1983 — Edell's final season — as Army put forth the first of two successive 11-3 marks.

The Emmer Era

Jack Emmer, who had been a highly successful coach during stints at Cortland State and Washington & Lee, replaced Edell in the spring of 1984.

Emmer's inaugural season along the banks of the Hudson was a resounding success as the team became just the second Army squad to reach the final four, edging Pennsylvania, 8-7 at Franklin Field in the NCAA Quarterfinals.

That would be the first of eight postseason bids earned by Emmer's Black Knights.

When Army defeated Cornell in the 1996 season opener, Emmer joined Touchstone as the only coaches in Army history to reach 100 wins at the Academy.

One of Emmer's most successful seasons came in 1993 when a senior-dominated Army team — paced by Steve Heller, who would graduate as the Academy's career scoring leader with 204 points — finished the regular season with an 11-3 record before beating Maryland 15-11 in the opening round of the NCAA tourney.

In 1997 and 1998, Ross Yastrzemsky and Chad Hadlock eclipsed the century mark for career points. Yastrzemsky graduated as the program's highest scoring midfielder ever, compiling 121 points. He added an honorable mention All-America certificate to his accolades after the 1997 season.

Emmer coached 27 All-Americans in his 22 years at the Academy, including Jim Wagner and John Walker a year ago. Tim Pearson (USMA '02), a three-time honorable mention All-America, concluded his exceptional career as the Academy's all-time leading scorer. He smashed Heller's previous mark, finishing with 238 points.

Emmer led Army into league play when the Patriot League was formed in 1991. The Black Knights did not lose a game to a conference foe in its first 25 contests, reeling off one of the nation's longest conference winning streaks ever. That string still stands as the longest in Patriot League history.

Army's peerless leader guided the Black Knights back into the NCAA Tournament in 2005 for the eighth time and the 15th time overall for the storied program. It also marked the third straight season that the Black Knights were invited to the NCAA Tournament.

Despite finishing runner-up at the Patriot League postseason tournament, Army was one of 10 at-large bids to the tournament. Emmer led his charges south of the Mason-Dixon line for a match-up with No. 8 Georgetown. The Black Knights dropped that NCAA First Round contest, 16-6 to the Hoyas.

Emmer carried on the Academy's long line of coaching success among a lineage of legendary lacrosse mentors at West Point. However, that long run came to a close in May 2005 when Emmer announced his retirement from coaching after 36 years. He left the game as the all-time winningest lacrosse coach in NCAA history.

New Beginnings

The 2006 season brought a change of guard over the Army lacrosse program as one-time assistant coach, Joe Alberici, returned to succeed his former mentor Jack Emmer. Alberici became just the 10th head coach in 88 years of the Academy's program, following in the footsteps of four coaching Hall of Famers who have come before him.

In his first campaign as head coach, Alberici paced the Black Knights to an 8-7 finish and No. 20 USILA/USA Today ranking. Army fell just short of the NCAA tournament after a runner-up finish at the Patriot League Championships.

Last season, Alberici led the Black Knights to a 9-6 record and the regular season Patriot League Championship with a 5-1 conference mark. For his efforts, he was named the Patriot League Coach of the Year, marking the first time an Army skipper won the award since Emmer nabbed his second honor in 1998.

National Lacrosse Foundation Hall of Fame

Located inside historic Homewood Field on the campus of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md., the National Lacrosse Hall of Fame has enshrined the sport's most prominent men and women since 1957.

Jack Emmer became the 12th member of Army's lacrosse family to join that illustrious club in 2005. He is the fourth former Army coach to be enshrined in the Hall of Fame. Below is a list of those 12 individuals, four coaches and eight players, with their year of induction in parentheses.

ARMY IN THE NCAA TOURNAMENT

Now in its 39th season, the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Tournament continues to be the premier event of the college lacrosse season each spring. NFL stadiums have hosted lacrosse's final four in each of the past six years, setting attendance records in each successive season. M&T Bank Stadium, home of the NFL's Baltimore Ravens, served as host site for three championship events in 2003, 2004 and 2007, while Philadelphia's Lincoln Financial Field served as host of championship weekend in 2005 and 2006. Gillette Stadium in Foxborough, Mass, home of the New England Patriots, will host the 2009 championships after serving as the host site in 2008.

Syracuse won its 10th NCAA Title last season with a 13-10 victory over Johns Hopkins in the championship game, played in front of 48,970 fans.

Army has played an important role in the development of the NCAA Tournament, having appeared in 15 postseason brackets and hosting tournament contests on seven occasions. The Black Knights have reached the final four twice since the tournament was created in 1971.

Former head Coach Jack Emmer reached the NCAA Tournament 16 times, ranking him second all-time in NCAA history. He took the Army Black Knights to the postseason tournament a school-record eight times. He also reached the postseason seven consecutive seasons during his previous two stops at Cortland and Washington & Lee. That mark of consistency ranks tied for 12th all-time in the NAAs.

Former Army great Tom Cafaro ('71) still holds a share of an NCAA Tournament record with his seven goals in the 1971 semifinals against Cornell. That is tied for the most goals scored by an individual in an NCAA semifinal game. It is also the second-highest total scored in any NCAA Tournament contest. Cafaro's 18 points in the 1971 tournament set a postseason scoring record and is still tied for the seventh best single postseason performance by an individual in the NAAs. More amazingly, Cafaro amassed his 18 points in just two tournament games.

Making its third-straight NCAA Tournament appearance, Army took on Georgetown in first-round action in 2005.

ARMY IN THE NCAA TOURNAMENT

Since its inception in 1971, Army has played a distinctive role in the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Championships. The Black Knights are one of only 13 programs to reach the postseason at least a dozen times, including three-straight appearances from 2003-2005. Additionally, Army has reached the final four of the tournament on two occasions (1971 and 1984).

A grand total of 45 programs have qualified for the NCAA Tournament in its 36-year history. Expanding to 16 teams in 2003, the premier event of the men's lacrosse season welcomes seven automatic qualifiers and selects nine at-large schools to fill out its bracket each year.

The game's growth over the years necessitated a move of championship weekend to larger stadiums. M&T Bank Stadium in Baltimore has hosted three of the last five championship weekends, including last season, while Philadelphia's Lincoln Financial Field hosted the 2005 and 2006 festivities. Gillette Stadium in Foxboro, Mass., will host the event in 2008 and 2009.

The Black Knights have been a part of the NCAA Tournament 15 times and rank tenth all-time in tournament appearances. Army has qualified for the NCAAs at least twice in every decade since the tournament began in 1971.

Third-year head coach Joe Alberici is no stranger to the NCAAs. He was an associate head coach at Duke University for nine seasons, leading the Blue Devils to the National Championship game in 2005 before falling by one goal to Johns Hopkins. Duke spent the majority of that season ranked second nationally behind the Blue Jays.

West Point and venerable Michie Stadium have played host to the NCAA Tournament seven times, most recently in 2001 when Notre Dame, Bucknell, Virginia and Hofstra squared

Following is the roster of Army Lacrosse players who have earned the "Varsity A." This list begins with the Class of 1923. Letters earned by year starts with the 1942 season, but does not reflect complete listings from the 1962 and 1984 campaigns. Lettermen are listed with the year in which they graduated from West Point. Non-graduates are listed by the class year in which they enrolled. An "x" prior to the year of graduation indicates a letterman who did not graduate from the Academy. Black Knights currently on the varsity roster are listed in bold.
